Different types of solutions have solvents and solutes in different phases. Solute is dissolved in the solvent. In a solution in which carbon dioxide is dissolved in water, the water is the solvent and the carbon dioxide is the solute. Two important concepts in studying chemical solutions are solution concentration and solubility equilibrium.

Interesting Facts about Chemical Reactions. When ice melts it undergoes a physical change from solid to liquid. However, this is not a chemical reaction as it remains the same physical substance (H₂O). Mixtures and solutions are different from chemical reactions as the molecules of the substances stay the same.
