Propositional calculus is a branch of logic. It is also called propositional logic, statement logic, sentential calculus, sentential logic, or sometimes zeroth-order logic. It deals with propositions (which can be true or false) and argument flow. Compound propositions are formed by connecting propositions by logical connectives. The propositions without logical connectives are called atomic ...

Anne is working at her desk. While she is directly aware only of her immediate situation — her being seated in front of her computer, the music playing in the background, the sound of her husband's voice on the phone in the next room, and so on — she is quite certain that this situation is only part of a series of increasingly more inclusive, albeit less immediate, situations: the ...

This research examines relationships between individuals' perceived psychological safety and engagement in their work. Kahn (1990) effectively launched this stream with his qualitative studies, noted above, of conditions enabling people to personally engage or disengage at work. More recently, Kark & Carmeli (2009) examined the affective components of psychological safety and argued that ...
